

Our son Jackson has face challenges with his schoolwork from an early age. While traditional, occupational therapy and tuition have provided short term gain his difficulties continued, although he was obviously a bright child. This was frustrating for us and as he drew closer to his final primary year it was becoming distressing to him also.

Based on our long and fruitful association with Tyquin Speech Pathology we undertook the Cellfield programme, on their recommendation, during 2009.

The program was very manageable in terms of time and effort. Jackson found Phil's mentoring approach a real boost, and completing set tasks was a happy challenge for him.

We have noticed a major improvement in Jackson's schoolwork, and we feel confident he is beginning high school on a level playing field now.

We are most convinced the Cellfield programme has made a significant difference to Jackson's academic future and fully recommend the programme.
